

National Youth Disability Summit 2022

Easy Read information

CYDA is the national organisation for children and young people with disability in Australia.

CYDA is having a conference for young people with a disability.

The conference is called the National Youth Disability Summit 2022.

A Summit is a place where people can work together to learn and share ideas and experience.

It is for all young people with a disability who are 12 to 30 years old.

The Summit is online only.

It is free!

The summit is on for 3 days:

- Tuesday, 5 July
- Wednesday 6 July
- Thursday, 7 July

What is the Youth Summit about?

Young people with disability will talk about our experiences and share our ideas.

We will talk about three big things.

1. Education

We will talk about being included at school, TAFE and university.

2. Advocacy

We will talk about how to speak up for yourself and for other people to make changes.

3. How doctors and specialists talk about disability.

We will talk about what doctors and specialists say about disability.

- What do they say that is helpful?
- What do they say that is not helpful?
- What more could they do to support us?

We will talk how this makes us feel and how we can get help to stay strong.

CYDA is making information to help make the Summit more accessible for everyone.

You can read more about the Youth Summit and how to register here:

www.cyda-nyds.com/

You can also call or text: 0423 833 523.

You can call the number between 9am and 5pm, Monday – Friday.

You can text at any time.