

Seeking Expressions of Interest

About SACID

SACID is a statewide not for profit organisation. All of the work we do is focused on working towards inclusive communities for people with intellectual disability and their families. We do this through consultation with stakeholders, advocating for an inclusive community, promoting the rights of people with intellectual disability and delivering capacity building activities for people with intellectual disability and their families.

SACID also work with professionals and organisations to improve their awareness of intellectual disability and implement inclusive practice. This includes providing Easy Read training and an Easy Read translation service.

About the Expression of Interest for Easy Read Translators

SACID have seen an increased demand for our Easy Read translation service and are looking at expanding our team. We are seeking expressions of interest from people who are skilled in translating complex information into Easy Read formats. This would be a casual role to help us in times of high demand. There is flexibility in this role to be based at the SACID office or to work from home. All SACID staff are required to have a current Working with Children Check and Police Check or be willing to obtain one prior to commencing employment.

How to express your interest

Please send us your resume with a cover letter outlining your experience developing your Easy Read documents. Please ensure that you attach examples of Easy Read documents you've developed.

For more information please contact Felicity Crowther at felicity@sacid.org.au or on (08) 8352 4416.

About the Expression of Interest for Workshop Facilitators

SACID have seen an increased demand for our capacity building workshops for people with intellectual disability and are looking at expanding our team. We are seeking expressions of interest from people who are experienced in delivering training to people with intellectual disability.

SACID offer a range of capacity building workshops for adults with intellectual disability. All of our workshops are co-facilitated with an Inclusion Advisor with intellectual disability. Visit our website for more information about our workshops:

<https://sacid.org.au/sacid-workshops/>

This would be a casual role to help us in times of high demand with workshops held in Adelaide metro and surrounding areas including the Adelaide Hills. Workshops are held during business hours and evenings. You would be required to have a drivers license and your own vehicle. All SACID staff are required to have a current Working with Children Check and Police Check or be willing to obtain one prior to commencing employment.

How to express your interest

Please send us your resume with a cover letter outlining your experience delivering training to people with intellectual disability.

For more information please contact Felicity Crowther at felicity@sacid.org.au or on (08) 8352 4416.