

Do you need support to come to SACID's Leading Through Inclusion Conference?

You can speak to your family, caregivers, or service provider about what support you need to attend the conference.

You may be able to use funding in your NDIS Plan to help you to attend SACID's conference.

Our conference will:

- teach you new life skills like self-advocacy and understanding your rights
- build your confidence through participating, presenting and performing.
- help you meet new people.
- share information about how to access community services.

Your NDIS plan can fund the conference in these ways:

- Support staff can be funded from your Core Supports budget if attending the conference aligns with your NDIS goals.
- Transport, assistance to participate and other costs to attend the conference can also come under Capacity Building funding.

This funding will need to be Plan Managed or Self-Managed because SACID is not an NDIA registered organisation.

If you do not know how to get funding for SACID's conference, give this flyer to the people who support you with your NDIS funding.
